Fal. You'r welcome, what's your will? giue vs leaue Drawer.

Ford. Sir, I am a Gentleman that haue ſpent much, my name is Broome.

Fal. Good Maſter Broome, I deſire more acquaintance of you.

Ford. Good Sir Iohn, I ſue for yours; not to charge you, for I muſt let you vnderſtand, I thinke my ſelfe in better plight for a Lender, then you are; the which hath ſomething emboldned mee to this vnſeaſon'd intruſion: for they ſay, if money goe before, all waies doe lye open.

Fal. Money is a good Souldier (Sir) and will on.

Ford. Troth, and I haue a bag of money heere troubles me; if you will helpe to beare it (Sir Iohn) take all, or halfe for eaſing me of the carriage:

Fal. Sir, I know not how I may deſerue to bee your Porter.

Ford. I will tell you Sir, if you will giue mee the hearing.

Fal. Speake (good Maſter Broome) I ſhall be glad to be your Seruant.

Ford. Sir, I heare you are a Scholler; (I will be briefe with you) and you haue beene a man long knowne to me, though I had neuer ſo good meanes as deſire, to make my ſelfe acquainted with you. I ſhall diſcouer a thing to you, wherein I muſt very much lay open mine own imperfection: but (good Sir Iohn) as you haue one eye vpon my follies, as you heare them vnfolded, turne another into the Regiſter of your owne, that I may paſſe with a reproofe the eaſier, ſith you your ſelfe know how eaſie it is to be ſuch an offender.

Fal. Very well Sir, proceed:

Ford. There is a Gentlewoman in this Towne, her husbands name is Ford.

Fal. Well Sir.

Ford. I haue long lou'd her, and I proteſt to you, beſtowed much on her; followed her with a doating ob-ſeruance; ingroſs'd opportunities to meete her; ſlight occaſion that could but nigardly giue me her, not onely brought many preſents to gi giuen largely to many, to know what ſhe wou briefly, I haue purſu'd her, as Loue hath purſu hath beene on the wing of all occaſions; but haue merited, either in my minde, or in my m I am ſure I haue receiued none, vnleſſe Ex Iewell, that I haue purchaſed at an infinite hath taught me to ſay this.

"Loue like a ſhadow flies, when ſubſtance Lo
"Purſuing that that flies, and flying what pur

Fal. Haue you receiu'd no promiſe of ſatisf hands?

Ford. Neuer.

Fal. Haue you importun'd her to ſuch a pur

Ford. Neuer.

Fal. Of what qualitie was your loue then?

Ford. Like a faire houſe, built on another ſo that I haue loſt my edifice, by miſtaking th Ierected it.

Fal. To what purpoſe haue you vnfolded t

Ford. When I haue told you that, I haue Some ſay, that though ſhee appeare honeſt other places ſhee enlargeth hir mirth ſo far is ſhrewd conſtruction made of her. Now (S is the heart of my purpoſe: you are a Gen cellent breeding, admirable diſcourſe, of grea authenticke in your place and perſon, ge for your many warlike, court-like, and lea rions.

Fal. O Sir.

Ford. Beleeue it, for you know it: there i it, ſpend it, ſpend more; ſpend all I haue, on much of your time in exchange of it, as to la ſiege to the honeſty of this Fords wife: vſ